

Group Leader Description and Expectations

We are glad you are considering becoming a group leader!

Why Do We Have Groups?

Groups are a place where we can strengthen our faith, help each other through life, and make a real impact in our church and communities. Groups create an environment for you to connect in a meaningful way with others while learning to know God better.

TPCC believes people grow best in community, not isolation. It is the hope of leadership that everyone at TPCC would be in an intentional discipleship environment that moves him or her forward in his or her relationship with Jesus. We believe this happens in groups.

Role of a Group Leader

Our leaders play an important role in helping us achieve our mission to remove barriers that keep people from Jesus.

Since leaders play such an important role, we want you to understand their role and expectations, while considering this step. After reviewing the information below, if you are interested in pursuing group leadership, please complete the Group Leader Application. Once your application is reviewed, you be given training and contacted for an interview.

Group leaders are responsible for providing leadership and support to 6-14 individuals. A leader's responsibility is to create an intentional discipleship environment where the mission of TPCC is clearly lived out and articulated to members of the group. Leaders also understand and embody the four foundational values and essentials of a healthy life group: disciple, care, serve, and multiply.
